3 次の英文を読んで、後の問いに答えなさい。【32点】

A man came home from work late one evening. He was tired and got angry when he saw his 5-year-old son at the door.

“Dad, may I ask you a question?”

“You should be in bed! What is it?” said the man.

① “Dad, how much money do you make an hour?”

“Why are you asking me that? ② It's none of your business!” he said.

“I just want to know. Please tell me. A ” asked his son.

“Well, if you need to know, I'll tell you. I make $20 an hour.”

“Oh,” said the little boy and he looked down. Then he looked up and said, “Dad, may I borrow $10, please?”

B “Do you want to buy a silly little toy or something? Go to your room and go to bed. I work long, hard hours every day and I don't want you to waste my money.”

The little boy quietly went to his room and closed the door. The man (ア) [think] to himself, “Why did he ask such a question?”

After a while, he calmed down, and started to think ③ that maybe there was something that he really needed to buy with that $10 because he didn't usually ask for money. The man went to C and opened the door.

“Are you asleep?” he asked.

“No, Dad, I’m awake,” the boy answered.

“Maybe I was too hard on you earlier,” said his father. “I’m sorry. It was a long day and I was very tired. Here’s $10 that you wanted.”

“Oh, thank you, Dad!” he (イ) [cry]. He reached under his pillow and pulled out some crushed bills. The little boy slowly counted out his money, then looked up at his father.

“Why did you want more money if you already had some?” the father asked.

“Because I didn’t have enough, but ④now I do,” the little boy answered.

“Dad, I have D now. Can I buy an hour of your time? Please come home early tomorrow. I want to have dinner with you.”

The father was embarrassed and deeply moved. He put his arms around his little son.
